

Manufacturing Transformation Consulting

The intelligent production of tomorrow

Why intelligent production?

Growing demands for efficiency, quality, and flexibility are colliding with established production structures and complex IT landscapes. The potential of digitalization often goes unexplored or fails to deliver the desired results without clear objectives.

Typical challenges faced by manufacturing companies include:

- Incomplete data collection and inconsistent use of production data
- Limited flexibility due to rigid processes and gaps between manual and digital workflows
- Inefficient processes due to high rework rates and quality issues

With our Manufacturing Transformation Consulting approach, we help manufacturers realign their digital, future-proof production.

Your benefits at a glance

- Future-proof production approach as the basis for growth and transformation
- Greater transparency as the basis for substantiated decisions in production
- Increased operational efficiency through targeted prioritization and structured improvement
- Greater flexibility in adapting your production to changing requirements

PALMBERG

abat is an expert in digital high-availability solutions for the complex manufacturing industry, for production control, production planning and quality management.

The goal: to open the door to tomorrow today.

This is how we do it:

- Systematic yet individually tailored counseling approach
- Structured analysis based on a list of topics and questions tailored specifically to your situation, serving as a guide to identify gaps and action items
- Workshop to assess the current situation and identify obstacles and objectives
- Development of initial solution approaches to improve manufacturing efficiency using best practices

We deliver these results:

- Assessment and evaluation of the digital maturity of production
- Establishment of a concept for the digitization of production and the design of production processes
- Roadmap for the implementation of the digitization strategy
- Detailed documentation of the workshop results, including the action items relevant to you
